

THE WAR IN THE CRIMEA.

Interesting Particulars.

We make the following extracts from the official dispatch of Gen. Canrobert, the French Commander-in-chief in the Crimea, as published in the Moniteur, the official organ:

"MONSIEUR LE MARCHEL.—The bad weather has continued, with rare and short intervals of improvement. We nevertheless continue, as much as possible, to encircle the place with our trenches, and all the siege operations become perfect and solid, notwithstanding the rainy season, which renders the transport very difficult.

The two armies mutually assist each other. I am indebted to the English army for the transport of nearly all the cavalry I have under my orders in the Crimea; and, on my part, I have placed at the disposal of Lord Raglan my mules to convey his pack to Balaklava, and teams to convey his ammunition. These exchanges contribute to keep up excellent relations and perfect cordiality between the two armies.

There scarcely passes a night without some points of our lines being attacked by sorties, which generally cost dear to the assailants.

Yesterday, at two A. M., the Russians, after having made a sortie on the third parallel of the English, who vigorously repulsed them, made also a demonstration upon the center and left of our works. Received a very brisk and well directed fire. They withdrew before our soldiers, who pursued them at the point of the bayonet. The enemy left a great number of dead upon the ground.

To make the guard of our trenches the more efficacious, I have organized a corps of volunteers whose duty it is to keep the approaches of our works clear of the enemy at night. I expect good results from this institution, which completes that of the "franc-tireurs," organized since the commencement of the siege, and who do duty by day in the trenches. They have already done considerable injury to the enemy.

As I have already informed you, our works extend actually to the bottom of the quarantine bay. The enemy's attention is drawn to the efforts we are making on that side, and his artillery sharply disputes the ground with us, where, as nearly everywhere, we are obliged to hollow out the rock, but our progress is not the less real, and we remain in possession.

Although the number of the sick has somewhat increased, in consequence of the perpetual wet in which we live, the sanitary condition of the army is satisfactory, and its moral condition perfect.

The number of sick in our military hospitals at Constantinople is 3784, of whom 1387 are wounded. I have established in the Crimea, near the Bay of Karatich, a depot of our convalescents, where the men who leave the army ambulances, and who only require rest, will regain their strength, and be enabled to return to their duty.

The Imperial Highness, Prince Napoleon, still retained at Constantinople by the malady which forced him to leave the Crimea—wished to rejoin us. I opposed his return, which might compromise the health of the Prince. I am, &c.

"CANROBERT, General-in-Chief."

Crimes and Casualties of 1854.

Our exchanges furnish tabular statements of the crimes and casualties in the United States during the year which has just closed. The footings up are as follows:

The total amount of property destroyed by fire is estimated, in round numbers, at $25,000,000.

The number of persons whose lives have been sacrificed by burning buildings, is put down at 171.

There have been one hundred and ninety-three railroad accidents, killing 186 persons and wounding 589.

There have also been forty-eight steamboat accidents, killing 387 persons, and wounding 225.

During the year six hundred and eighty-two murders were committed, and eight-four persons were executed. In the State of New York alone, there were seventy-four murders and seven executions, and in California sixty-four murders and fifteen executions.

Latest About the War.

The steamer Canada brought advices from London and Liverpool to the 6th instant. The advices from the seat of war and diplomacy, by this arrival, possess but little of special interest, and the interesting features in it may be summed up in the two following points:

The allies, at the latest advices, had three hundred guns in a position ready to open a fire upon Sebastopol, and were only waiting for a favorable moment to commence. After bombarding the city for forty-eight hours, night and day, they would then storm the city on the south side, while Menschikoff would be attacked in the field at the north. The whole programme had been arranged and a full determination arrived at to make one grand attack immediately. The result was looked for with intense anxiety, as the fate of the allies is involved in it.

The other point is, that the negotiations at Vienna had been postponed fourteen days to give the Czar one more chance to come to terms.

Wm. S. Pickett, the Postmaster of Maysville, Ky., died yesterday morning, of inflammatory rheumatism. Mr. Pickett was an old citizen, and had filled several public offices with credit.

Great Row on Reynolds' Wharf-Boat

On last Sunday night, at about 9 o'clock, four Irishmen entered the bar-room of Mr. Reynolds, wharf-boat, and, after a good deal of rough joking one of them boastfully declared—"Be Jesus, I'm a good Roman Catholic." Mr. Snider remarked, "I would not be a l—y Catholic," whereupon three of the Irishmen immediately made an assault upon him. Messrs. Reynolds, Gilmore, Royce, Faith and Hayes, being present, then commenced on the four Irishmen, and in the melee the candle was blown out. Gilmore was cut in the right shoulder with a knife by one of the Irish; and Mr. Reynolds received a severe blow, with a chair, on his right arm.

Mr. Snider was grappled by Dennis Hickey, and in the struggle, both fell into the river, and were carried under the coal boats, where Mr. Snider managed to extricate himself from his grasp and dived from underneath the boat, when he was rescued just in time to save his life. Dennis Hickey was drowned, and the other Irishmen were completely used up, and carried off the field.

It is a fortunate thing that the party of Kentuckians were unprovided with weapons, as it would have fared still more seriously. As it is, one of the Irishmen has lost his life, and the remaining three have been badly battered up.

The names of the Irishmen are, Andy Brandon, Stephen Hayes, Dennis Hickey (drowned) and Pat O'Brien.

The body of Hickey was found at 9 o'clock, Monday morning. He had a severe gash in his head. An inquest was held on the body, and the verdict rendered by the Coroner's jury was, "that the deceased came to his death by accidental drowning."

These are the main facts of the case, as elicited at a trial before Judge Carlton, on Tuesday morning. At the trial the prosecution endeavored to prove that the party of Kentuckians were Know Nothings, and set upon a body of drunken men, merely because they were Irish. But so far from this being the case, the testimony went to show that all the Kentuckians engaged in the row were sober, quiet and industrious men, and, although somewhat to blame, in joking rather hard with the Irish, they were not the first to give a blow—nor did they make use of any arms save those provided by nature. It was evident that the Irish were somewhat under the influence of ardent spirits, although but one of them (Hayes) was staggering drunk.

We do not give a false coloring to the circumstances, because the men "used up" were Irish; as we do not care what nation a citizen belongs to, if he is orderly and in the right. We have always opposed Know-Nothingism, and entertain no prejudices against a man on account of his birth.

There were three lawyers who made speeches in favor of the Irish, while the defendants had only one attorney employed.

The jury retired, and, shortly returning, stated that they could not agree—they were sent back—and then brought in a verdict of $15 fine against one of the Irishmen (Stephen Hayes) and all of the Kentuckians.

The counsel for the defense immediately took an appeal to the county court. The unfortunate man who lost his life leaves a wife and child, and a father and mother to mourn his loss. The transaction has also created a great deal of excitement in our usually peaceful community. During the trial the courthouse was densely crowded by the friends of both parties—many citizens coming over from Cincinnati.

We have heard some murmurs of dissatisfaction at the award of the jury, but considering the evidence adduced, and knowing the integrity of most of the gentlemen constituting the panel, we do not believe that they could have conscientiously decided otherwise.

We would earnestly advise our citizens, both native and foreign, to exercise a spirit of moderation and peace, and, if assailed or injured, to seek redress by legal means. [Hawesville Eagle.]

Most Horrible Tragedy.

A most thrilling and awful tragedy occurred in the vicinity of Cascade on Friday night. Robt. McGinty, residing some two miles this side of Cascade, went to the house of his father-in-law, Mr. Clark, residing a short distance beyond Cascade, and commenced an assault upon his wife, who had gone there to escape his ill-treatment, when the father, Mr. C., interfered, by drawing a pistol from his pocket, and informing McGinty that he would shoot him if he did not desist. McGinty seized a flat-iron and knocked the old man down, took the pistol from him and shot him. During the time that this encounter was going on between McGinty and Clark, the wife escaped to a neighbor's house; but, fearing pursuit from her demon husband, she left the house and went into the woods, and there secreted herself. McGinty followed to the house where the wife had retreated, and not finding her there, swore he would shoot the woman of the house if she did not inform him of the place of concealment of his wife. The woman, alarmed for her safety, informed McGinty the direction his wife had taken. Bent on blood, he pursued and found her concealed in the bushes, and, horrible to relate, cut her head nearly off. He then went to his own house, and placing the muzzle of the pistol under his chin, discharged it, the ball passing out of his right cheek. Finding this effort to destroy life ineffectual, he discharged three balls into his abdomen, and then tried to sever his wind-pipe by drawing a knife across his throat. He was found, some time during Friday night, at his own house in bed, and still alive, by some men from Cascade, in pursuit of him. As they entered the house, he pushed the clothes over his head. They placed him in a wagon and started for Cascade, but before they reached there, life had left the carcass of this desperate wretch. McGinty and his wife are both dead, and it is doubtful whether Clark will survive. McGinty is the same desperado who, a short time since, bit a man's nose off, in the lower part of the city, and was bound over to appear at the next term of the District Court. [Dubuque Herald.]

Counterfeiting in the Michigan Prison.

A day or two since we referred to a beautiful state of things that exist in the Jackson State Prison. Since then a fact has come to our knowledge that will go still further than anything we have ever said to show not only the total absence of every thing like discipline in the prison, but that there is a system of demoralization prevailing amongst the convicts, such as has not been witnessed in any other prison in the Union. We are informed, upon good authority that they have actually been engaged in the manufacture of "bogus" money, within the last few weeks, and perhaps for the last few years! The money is made by the convicts, and put in circulation through the agency of a man by the name of Jones, who had been in the habit of visiting the prison for that purpose. How the business could be carried on without the knowledge of some of the officers, we leave our readers to imagine. If they did know it, they are as criminal as the convicts themselves—if they did not know it, they are totally incompetent for the position they hold. We learn that a warrant was procured by Mr. Blair, the Prosecuting Attorney for Jackson county, for the arrest of Jones, as soon as the fact came to his knowledge. But he succeeded in making his escape. If the State's Prison has been converted into a mint for coining bogus money, it were high time a change in its government should be made. [Detroit Tribune.]

We find the above paragraph copied into the columns of the Sandusky Mirror, a paper edited by A. G. Dimmock, recently Warden of the Ohio Penitentiary. If report speaks true, there are matters which occurred during the administration of the affairs of the prison by the man which would put to shame the management of the Michigan College of crime, about which, if he were the vigilant and capable officer his friends claim he was, he ought to have known something. It is certain that two of the officers who were under his orders have been arrested, for frauds and speculations brought to light, since he left by the Directors and new Warden. It is known that a destructive fire occurred in the prison during his administration, about which, since the arrest of the two delinquent officers above alluded to, we hear mysterious givings out. It is not known that "bogus" coin was ever manufactured in the Ohio Penitentiary, but it is believed that the counterfeiting of bank notes has been carried on there to a large extent.

Here, then, we have something like evidence that the reformatory prisons of two States, while under the management of men who are represented by their friends as "capable and honest," have been turned into schools of crime. Is it not time that public attention was aroused on a subject so vital to the safety of community? What avails the incarceration of criminals—why build prisons and maintain guards, if not for restraint and reform? The people know little of those things, but if half we hear whispered about be true, it is time inquiry were made and somebody held responsible. Unless something is done, public confidence in the administration of justice and the punishment of crime will be sadly weakened. [O. S. Journal.]

The King of Naples and the Jesuits.

We learn by the Baltic that a curious quarrel has broken out at Naples between the King and the Jesuits. The Neapolitan Minister of Police recently sent for Father Giuseppe, the head of the order of Jesuits, and informed him that he must no longer teach the "revolutionary" doctrine, that the Pope is superior to all the kings of the earth. The minister added, that, in 1818 the Jesuits had been sent out of the kingdom "in coaches," but if they continued to teach such doctrines they would be "hunted out with kicks."

The N. Y. Journal of Commerce comments as follows on this state of affairs: The news from Naples and the petty squabbles between King Bombardatore and the Jesuits, teach an important lesson that may be profited by in this country. It will be recollected that King Ferdinand was, "par excellence," the Ultra-Montane Monarch of Europe—a naturally kind-hearted, but supremely superstitious, narrow-minded man, who followed implicitly the guidance of his priestly superiors. But even he has been obliged to revolt against the worse than middle-age arrogance with which the serps whom he had warmed into life at his fireside, when they were rejected by entire Europe besides, have turned and bitten him. They had believed their victim too secure ever to assert his manhood again; and their rampant spirit of domination, when uncured, was rapidly making the Kingdom of Naples another Paraguay. Their craven obsequiousness, when an unexpected rebuke and threatened punishment came, is as much in character as their former arrogance.

Dr. Fisher says prosperity is the sun and the rain which fall upon the tree and cause it to shoot upward, spread its branches and clothe itself with verdure; while adversity, like the tempest coming occasionally, causes it to strike its roots deeper, and to spread farther, thus giving strength and power to the tree.

The Frankfort Commonwealth, of the 19th instant, says—"The appointment of Major John C. Breckenridge, as Minister to Spain, has been confirmed by the Senate, but we do not know whether he has yet resigned or will resign his seat in the House. His term expires with the present Congress, on the approaching third of March, only some six weeks distant; and whether he resigns or not, we presume Gov. Powell will not think it necessary to order a special election; for, by the time a new member can be elected and get to Washington, the fragment of the term he goes to fill will be nearly if not quite gone."

The New York Herald publishes the late speech of Victor Hugo on the anniversary of the Polish revolution. The orator traces the war that now ravages Europe to the affair of the second December: "Take away intrigue," he says, "the so-called affair of the Holy Place; take away the key; take away the desire of being consecrated; take away the present to be made to the Pope; take away the second of December; take away M. Bonaparte, you have no Eastern war."

The picture that he paints of the suffering of the wounded is exceedingly graphic. The dreadful results of the war thus far he sketches most boldly. The doctrine advanced in conclusion is, that the war in Poland is inevitable, and "that is the revolution in Europe." "Poland," he exclaims, "is in the sepulchre, but she has her clasp in her hand; Hungary is in her shroud, but she clenches her sabre; Italy is in the tomb, but she has a fire at her heart; France is in the grave, but she has a star on her forehead; and all signs announce to us in the next spring the hour of resurrection, as the morning is the hour for awakening."

Large Field of Grapes.

The Ohio Farmer says: Charles Carpenter, of Kelly's Island, one of the most successful cultivators of grapes in this country, from a single acre of his own growing last season, pressed 898 gallons of juice, making 700 gallons of wine.

Besides this he sold $100 worth of grapes and his family and some fifteen hands ate all they choose during the season. This single acre yielded at least $1200, and it was the poorest season they have ever had at the Island for grapes.

These wines sell readily for $1.50 per gallon. It is the best grape region in the United States. The Catawba is preferred, and nine-tenths of the vines are of this variety.

The editor of the Paris Flag, after quoting the resolution passed by the Democracy of Fayette, recommending Col. Rogers for Governor says:

The subject of the above resolution is a stranger to us personally. We remember his name as associated with the legislation of the State some years since. We doubt not that the compliment contained in the above resolution is merited, and if Col. Rogers be the nominee of the State convention for the office of Governor, or for any other office within the gift of the people of the State, we shall support him with great cheerfulness, believing that he possesses, in an eminent degree, the qualifications necessary to make a good officer.

Sore Throats.

Forty-four Swiss emigrants reported themselves, on the 10th instant, at New York, to the commissioners of emigrants as paupers, whose passage to this country had been paid by their government authorities. They were passengers in the Arcadia, wrecked on Sable Island, and arrived there on the steamer State of Maine, from Boston. They are to be sent back to that country.

For BRONCHITIS, THROAT DISEASES, HACKING COUGH, and the effects of imprudent use of Mercury.—No medicine has ever been discovered which has effected such cures as Carter's Spanish Mixture.

Throat diseases produced by salivation, Hacking Cough, Bronchial Affections, Liver Disease, Neuralgia, and Rheumatism, have all been relieved and cured in a wonderful manner, by the great purifier of the blood, Carter's Spanish Mixture.

The case of Mr. T. H. Ramsey alone should satisfy any who doubt. Call on the agent and procure a pamphlet containing cures, which will astonish you. jan 11
